Former 1st Lt. with the Latvian Legion where he was adjutant of Maj. HAZNERS Vilis (see card 1107). Was drafted in the Latvian Army in 1935; afterwards worked in the police, then attended the Latvian Officers' Training School. In spring 1945 he escaped together with his girl-friend, ROGA Volta (now his wife) to Denmark and still later, after the capitulation, together with her, GULBITIS Janis, Col. GRAPMANIS Emils and the latter's mistress Zolma Iru (now Mrs. GRAPMANIS) to Sweden. Here he worked first in Lund and since 1946 in Halsingborg. About 1948 the JANELSINS moved to Stockholm where the father of Volta JANELSINS worked at the Latvian Relief Committee. The latter was a Latvian lieutenant-colonel with the Latvian Army and secretary of the Minister of War in free Latvia; while in Sweden he became affiliated with the left wing group at the a/s committee. In 1950 P. Janelis was the board chairman of the DAUGAVAS VANAGI chapter in Stockholm. Later resigned from this post. His wife is working at some insurance company in Stockholm; they own a car now. His sister, the noted artist-painter, Veronika Janelis, is married to the famous Latvian writer EGLITIS Anslavs - both are living in California.
